EBULLETIN

YOUR WEEKLY UPDATE FROM THE NHBA

Welcome to our Midyear Meeting Issue of EBulletin

We hope you will attend on Friday, but if you are not able to make it, there's still a lot of useful information.

This year's lineup of speakers includes four nationally recognized attorneys who are shaping the future of law and society in their respective practices. Kenneth Feinberg, Ellie Krug, Lisa Bragança, and Patrick Jaicomo will discuss the work they've been doing on legal issues ranging from qualified immunity to alternative dispute resolution cases involving major catastrophes.

Midyear Meeting Speakers in Bar News

- "Revisiting the 9/11 Victims Compensation Fund" Book Review: Kenneth Feinberg's "What is Life Worth" is the account of his three-year struggle to compensate the victims of the 9/11 attacks 20 years ago. And like most books made into movies, it has its share of embellishments. Read the full article.
- Attorney Lisa Bragança, one of the speakers at this Friday's Midyear Meeting, sits down with NH Bar News Editor Scott Merrill to talk about cryptocurrency and, more generally, "What Gives a Thing Value?" Read the full article.
- Attorney Patrick Jaicomo, who will be speaking at this Friday's Midyear Meeting, is featured in this article examining the doctrine of qualified immunity. Professor John Greabe, of UNH Franklin Pierce School of Law Professor, John Greabe, is also featured in the article. "The Debate about Qualified Immunity Continues" Read the full article.

If you haven't registered yet for what we truly hope will be a once-in-a-lifetime event, there's still time to do so. We look forward to seeing you on Friday!
(If you have already signed up, please encourage your colleagues to come, too!)

The Courts called.
They said you can go to Midyear Meeting.
(OK, not really.)

But NH Courts are closed this Friday for all but essential business, to allow as many attorneys to attend the Virtual Midyear Meeting as possible (which we consider the functional equivalent).

Make it worth the Courts' generosity and join us on Fri, Feb 18.
