Sarah Mattson Dustin is the executive director for New Hampshire Legal Assistance (NHLA), a statewide nonprofit law firm providing civil legal aid to people with low income and older adults from offices in Concord, Manchester, Portsmouth, Claremont, and Berlin. A career legal aid lawyer, Mattson Dustin has been with NHLA for more than 18 years. She worked first as a staff attorney, handling a wide variety of cases for individual clients, and later oversaw the organization's policy advocacy before taking on the executive director role in 2018. She is the President-Elect of the New Hampshire Bar Association and serves on the New Hampshire Supreme Court Access to Justice Commission. She earned her undergraduate and law degrees from Harvard University and began her legal career as a law clerk for the United States District Court in Concord.

Mattson Dustin is deeply involved in civic life in New Hampshire, having served on the boards of the Hopkinton Public Schools Foundation, the New Hampshire Women's Foundation, the New Hampshire Charitable Foundation, Merrimack County Savings Bank, and New Hampshire Mutual Bancorp. She is a lifelong Granite Stater who grew up in the Lakes Region and now lives in the Capital Region.