Heather Scheiwe Kulp

Heather Scheiwe Kulp is an attorney, educator, and circuit court administrator for the New Hampshire Judicial Branch, where she oversees court operations, access to justice initiatives, and alternative dispute resolution programs statewide. Before joining the Judicial Branch, she served as a lecturer on law at Harvard Law School, teaching courses in negotiation, dispute systems design, and facilitation, and as a clinical instructor with the Harvard Negotiation and Mediation Clinical Program.

She began her legal career as a Skadden Fellow at Resolution Systems Institute in Chicago, where she designed court-connected dispute resolution programs for self-represented litigants. Kulp earned her law degree from Northwestern University School of Law and her bachelor’s degree from St. Olaf College.
